

POLITICAL POWER AND ENDOGENOUS POLICY FORMATION

by

Gordon C. Rausser, Jo Swinnen, and Pinhas Zusman

TABLE OF CONTENTS OCTOBER 2008 VERSION

Part 1. Political Power and Economic Analysis

1. Public Policy: The Lens of Political Economy
 - 1.1. Introduction
 - 1.2. The Lens of Political Economy
 - 1.3. Literature Review
 - 1.4. Structure and Major Themes of the Book
2. The Nash Solution to the Bargaining Problem
 - 2.1. Introduction
 - 2.2. The Nash Solution to the Bargaining Problem with Fixed Disagreement Payoffs
 - 2.3. The Pivotal Axiom and Alternative Approaches
 - 2.4. Conclusion
3. The Harsanyi Solution to the Bargaining Problem
 - 3.1. Introduction
 - 3.2. Endogenous Disagreement Payoffs
 - 3.3. The n-person Bargaining Game
 - 3.4. Reciprocal Power Relations
 - 3.5. Conclusion
4. Static Political-Economic Analysis
 - 4.1. Introduction
 - 4.2. Organization of the Political System
 - 4.3. The Political-Economic Structure
 - 4.4. Conflict Resolution and the Equilibrium Relations
 - 4.5. Conclusion
5. Normative Political-Economic Analysis
 - 5.1. Introduction
 - 5.2. Evaluation Criteria of Social Benefits and Costs
 - 5.3. Political-Economic Efficiency Conditions
 - 5.4. Evaluation of Structural Policies
 - 5.5. Conclusion

Part 2. Ideology, Prescription, and Political Power Coefficients

6. Political Power, Ideology, and Political Organizational Structures
 - 6.1. Introduction
 - 6.2. The Nature of Ideology

- 6.3. Ideological Commitment and Policy Formation
 - 6.4. Implications for Empirical Analysis
 - 6.5. The Organization of Interest Groups and Policy Formation
 - 6.6. Interest Groups and the Organization for Collective Action
 - 6.7. Political Entrepreneurs, Internal Group Organization and Within-Group Equilibrium
 - 6.8. Group Political Preferences and Political Power
 - 6.9. Implications of the Organization of Interest Groups
 - 6.10. Government Structure
 - 6.11. Political Parties
 - 6.12. Conclusion
7. Political Power, Influence, and Lobbying
 - 7.1. Introduction
 - 7.2. General Formulation of the Framework
 - 7.3. Costs of Organization
 - 7.4. Lobbying as a Common-Agency Problem
 - 7.5. Lobbying under Assymmetric Information
 - 7.6. Expanding the Framework
 - 7.7. Conclusion
8. Constitutional Prescription and Political Power Coefficients
 - 8.1. Introduction
 - 8.2. Constitutional Rules and Policymaking Centers
 - 8.3. Evaluation of Alternative Constitutional Rules
 - 8.4. Constitutional Space Prescription
 - 8.5. Conclusion

Part 3. Conceptual Applications to Specific Structures

9. The Political Economy of Commodity Market Intervention
 - 9.1. Introduction
 - 9.2. The Political Structure
 - 9.3. Policy Formation: The Political-Economic Equilibrium
 - 9.4. Welfare Implications
 - 9.5. Conclusion
10. The Political Economy of Public Research and Development
 - 10.1. Introduction
 - 10.2. Market Relations and the Demand for Agricultural R&D
 - 10.3. The Characteristics of Agricultural Research, its Management and Organization
 - 10.4. The Political Structure
 - 10.5. The Political-Economic Equilibrium Policy
 - 10.6. Efficiency of the Political-Economic Equilibrium Research Policy
 - 10.7. The Interrelation between R&D Policy and Commodity Market Intervention Policies
 - 10.8. Conclusion
11. Political-Economic Analysis of Redistributive Policy and Public Good Policy
 - 11.1. Introduction

- 11.2. The Government's Policy Decisions
- 11.3. Underinvestment in Agricultural Research
- 11.4. Are Subsidies and Research Expenditures Complements?
- 11.5. Conclusion

- 12. Interest Groups, Coalition Breaking, and Productive Policies
 - 12.1. Introduction
 - 12.2. Interest Group Structure
 - 12.3. Targeting Payments under Heterogeneous Adoption
 - 12.4. Noncoincidental Consumer and Taxpayer Interests and Output Constraints
 - 12.5. Other Transfer Schemes
 - 12.6. Conclusion

- 13. Political-Economic Analysis of Land Reform
 - 13.1. Introduction
 - 13.2. The Economic Structure
 - 13.3. The Political Structure
 - 13.4. The Political-Economic Equilibrium
 - 13.5. Evaluating the Economic Efficiency of Land Reform
 - 13.6. Conclusion

- 14. Political-Economic Analysis of Water Resource Systems
 - 14.1. Introduction
 - 14.2. The Structure of a Water Resource Political Economy
 - 14.3. The Physical Water-Resource Subsystem
 - 14.4. The Economic Structure
 - 14.5. The Political Power Structure
 - 14.6. The Hydrological-Political-Economic Equilibrium
 - 14.7. Conjunctive Water Use with Short Water Supply
 - 14.8. Conclusion

- 15. Political-Economic Analysis in Transition Economies
 - 15.1. Introduction
 - 15.2. The Model
 - 15.3. Restructuring the Tradeoff
 - 15.4. Open and Closed Economies
 - 15.5. Vicious and Virtuous Circles
 - 15.6. Conclusion

- 16. The Power of Bureaucracies: The European Commission and EU Policy Reforms
 - 16.1. Introduction
 - 16.2. The Decision-Making Process
 - 16.3. Status Quo Bias: The Importance of External Changes for Policy Reform
 - 16.4. The Power of the Commission
 - 16.5. Conclusions and Discussion

Part 4. Political Power Econometrics

17. Political Econometrics
 - 17.1. Introduction
 - 17.2. Formulation
 - 17.3. Estimation and Testing
 - 17.4. Policy Instruments and the Negotiation Framework
 - 17.5. Conclusion

18. The Political Econometrics of the Israeli Dairy Industry
 - 18.1. Introduction
 - 18.2. The Israeli Dairy Program
 - 18.3. The Economic Structure of the Israeli Dairy Market
 - 18.4. The Political Structure of the Israeli Dairy Industry
 - 18.5. The Political-Economic Equilibrium in the Israeli Dairy Market
 - 18.6. The Internal Structure of the Political Conflict
 - 18.7. Conclusion

19. Temporal Shifts in Political Power
 - 19.1. Introduction
 - 19.2. Specification and Estimation of the Constraint Structure
 - 19.3. Estimation of the Policy Criterion Function
 - 19.4. Estimation of the Automatic Adjustment Rules
 - 19.5. Validation and Assessment of the Automatic Adjustment Rules
 - 19.6. Toward a Simpler Set of Automatic Adjustment Rules

20. Estimating the Statistical Properties of Political Power
 - 20.1. Introduction
 - 20.2. The General Model
 - 20.3. Empirical PCF Models
 - 20.4. Obtaining Bootstrapped Standard Errors for PCF Parameters
 - 20.5. An Empirical Application to Japanese Policy
 - 20.6. Conclusion

21. Role of Institutions in the Joint Determination of PERTs and PESTs
 - 21.1. Introduction
 - 21.2. Empirical Evidence
 - 21.3. The Impact of Development and Institutions: A Conceptual Model
 - 21.4. Econometric Analysis
 - 21.5. Regression Results
 - 21.6. Conclusions and Implications

Part 5: Policy Reform and Dynamic Extensions

22. Dynamic Political-Economic Analysis
 - 22.1. Introduction
 - 22.2. The General Structure of a Political Economy as a Dynamic System

- 22.3. The Dynamics of Political Power
- 22.4. Political “Traps” and Policy Reforms
- 22.5. Conclusion

23. Policy Reform and Compensation

- 23.1. Introduction
- 23.2. Mobility, Ownership Diversification, and Rent-Seeking Incentives
- 23.3. The Political-Economic Equilibrium
- 23.4. The Welfare Effects of Trade Reform
- 23.5. Conclusion